Are your leaders ready to drive your business in the new world of work?

Today's business landscape is more complex than ever. Innovation, technology, and workforce demographics continue to evolve, but business productivity remains flat. Companies need to invest in and develop their people in different ways to succeed.

Join us on May 9th to hear a panel of experts discuss gaps between technology and productivity, generational shifts in the workplace, and leadership and talent development trends that are driving the future of work.

When

Wednesday, May 9, 2018
Networking: 7:30 - 8:00 a.m.
