

Debbie Lousberg

Senior Career Coach

“Many job search skills are also life skills. It is so rewarding to help someone with their job search and provide guidance and information that can add to their professional and personal success.”

Engaging, professional Facilitator and Career Consultant with 15+ years' experience in teaching and coaching all aspects of the job search process, while guiding candidates through their individual career transition process with empathy and respect. Effective facilitator of Bravanti webinars and workshops on a wide variety of topics, presenting with a positive, encouraging style.

Key Areas of Career Expertise & Accomplishments

- Dependable, energized webinar and workshop facilitator on variety of topics for small to medium sized groups, small to large companies.
- Development of consulting/coaching practice since 2005, with success in working with individuals and outplacement companies as career consultant and facilitator to groups via webinar and workshops. Transitioned into coaching, training and facilitating after progressive career of over 15 years within Staffing industry.
- Author of 3 books, Career Discovery Journal, Everyone Wants to Hear You, and What Now? A Woman's Guide to her After-50 Future.
- Developed and managed 8-week Career Transition program for 2 University extended studies departments with 3 successful cohorts each in San Diego county.
- Public speaker for companies and non-profit organizations on job search, communication, and other personal development topics.

Education & Credentials

Bachelor of Arts, Speech Communication, University of Arizona

Associate Certified Career Coach, Career Coach Institute

Advanced Toastmaster, Toastmasters International

Coaching Philosophy

Providing uplifting and on-point presentations to a wide variety of audiences, whether individual or groups, Debbie makes herself accessible to assist with individual experiences and questions, thus providing a truly customized approach.