

Gabriela O'Malley

Senior Career Coach

"I focus on my client's personal story to help communicate their experiences, passion, and accomplishments, guiding them to discover what their individual value can do for them to advance their career."

Gabriela specializes in crafting creative strategies to align talent brand and career development to help individuals in transition launch or renew their professional journeys globally.

Key Areas of Career Expertise & Accomplishments

Gabriela knows that a clear understanding of talents and unique value proposition is the compass to a fulfilling career. After over a decade of managing eight international and domestic relocations across three continents, she launched a career in coaching and transitions consulting.

At Bravanti, with a strategic-based approach, Gabriela works with clients from executives to entry-level positions, assisting them in increasing self-awareness to identify strengths and blind spots and build a solid brand positioning to strengthen their career advancement. She also helps them apply on-demand job search strategies and networking best practices to get ahead of the competition.

Gabriela is also a Transitions Management Consultant for NetExpat, a leading global provider for intercultural solutions and partner assistance. She works with expat partners from culturally diverse market segments, delivering tailored strategies focused on achieving successful ROI in talent mobility and international assignments.

Gabriela's international background includes living in Mexico, the USA, Singapore, Spain, Germany, and the UK. She is a guest for Thriving Abroad Podcast Series, 'Calculating your ROI as the Expat Partner'; and a contributing author for 'Life on the Move: The Ups and Downs of Living Abroad,' published in 2019.

Before this journey, Gabriela worked in the private sector and two NGOs in Northeast Mexico and Atlanta, GA, launching and restructuring projects that benefited children and families.

Education & Credentials

Gabriela earned a Bachelor's degree in Accounting and Finances from The University of Monterrey (UEM) in Northeast Mexico and an English Proficiency from Angloschool LSI, British Council, in London, England. She attained interdisciplinary training in personal development at recognized institutions and is certified in cross-cultural communication and personal branding.

Coaching Philosophy

Gabriela believes in empathy and draws from her lessons on change agility and resilience to create a safe space to guide her clients to discover a roadmap to manage their talent journey.