

Keven Dronen

Executive Career Coach

"I'm driven to assist those in transition succeed by discovering their value."

Keven has 25+ years' experience as a career coach. He works one on one with all levels of management from every industry as well as regularly conducts group sessions via Zoom and WebEx. He has a deep international background.

Key Areas of Career Expertise & Accomplishments

He has a strong background in operations, executive transition, restructuring/change management, surviving workforce training and corporate downsizings. He has personally provided transition services to 14,000+ individuals globally in small group workshops and one on one coaching both online and onground.

Prior to joining Bravanti, Keven spent 10 years as a consultant with Lee Hecht Harrison. In his last role as a Project Director, he led a multi-functional team of 38 in designing and rolling out a re-education/training program for displaced individuals into the technology sector for the City of Chicago. Prior to this Keven served as a Director & Vice President Business Development at Robertson Lowstuter where he consistently identified and landed new revenue streams. He has also managed multiple career centers for several Fortune 100's such as Baxter. As Director of Development Ministry and Strategy at BUCC he created a strategy to increase growth, which included developing a full communications plan to brand the institution. Prior to his time at BUCC, he spent five years teaching at the Keller Graduate School of Management, instructing Managing Organizational Change, Leadership and Organizational Behavior, Strategic Staffing, Training and Development, and Managing Global Diversity courses online and onground.

Education & Credentials

Keven holds a Master's & an S.T.B. from L'Université Catholique de Louvain in Belgium, where he graduated Cum Laude. Keven additionally earned a second Bachelor's degree in French Literature with minors in English and Philosophy from St. Meinrad College in St. Meinrad, IN. He is certified in the MBTI, 16PF, and Strong Instruments. Keven is a member of multiple humanitarian and community-based organizations and speaks both English and French having grown up in Grenoble, France then completed three years of graduate work in Belgium.

Coaching Philosophy

He operates from a mindset that people are temporarily unemployed and their vision for the future is attainable.