

Linda Requilez

Senior Career Coach

“Discover Your Skills,
Design Your Strategy, Deliver a Solution”

“Consulting with people in different phases of transition and spheres of influence in the marketplace is my joy.”

Linda has extensive experience in learning and development and is passionate about empowering and facilitating individuals through various changes in life.

Key Areas of Career Expertise & Accomplishments

Linda has a variety of experiences in adult learning, leadership and development within several business industries private and public, community-based, faith-based, social service non-profit organizations, and entrepreneurial contexts. She has consulted at various levels within organizations including the executive level with both short and long-term career transition candidates.

Linda also facilitates career workshops, creates value-add resumes, sharpens candidate interviewing skills, helps make networking connections, coaches regarding negotiations and guides candidates as they start new positions to function in excellence.

Her experience prior to Bravanti, has spanned a broad range of key positions including community organizer, Training Officer for Education at the Mayor’s Office of Chicago, internal executive team facilitator, Director of Human Resources, clergy, and author.

Her wide range of experiences has enhanced her capabilities to empower others to manage change and overcome the many challenges faced in the business world with life-balance.

Education & Credentials

Linda holds has a Master’s in Human Resource Development from Northeastern Illinois University and an MBA and MDiv from North Park University/Theological Seminary. She is an energetic leader with hands-on constructivist style, excellent logical and interpersonal abilities, enhanced by knowledge and understanding of diversity in the workplace.

Coaching Philosophy

She utilizes a variety of facilitative and coaching skills to help clients understand their value in the marketplace. Her style is ethical, logical, and innovatively relevant. She is a “Jump starter” committed to building the capacity of others in holistic ways.