

Talent Insights - March 2023

The latest on high-impact, high-quality coaching, leadership acceleration, and outplacement and internal mobility

A Message from our President & CEO

Greetings!

With spring on its way, some of you might have recently changed your clocks, seeing a shift in daylight hours. With changes and transformation come challenges, but also opportunities for improvement and a renewed sense of achievement.

This issue includes content around those concepts of transformation and change: possible changes in your career path; changes and transitions within your organization; transformations within yourself to become a better leader.

Change is inevitable, and I challenge you to think about how you can make an impact, how you can transform as a result.
